"Deus Caritas Est": Pope Benedict XVI's Encyclical Letter

Deus Caritas Est, p 4, par 6) The pope concedes that love is indeed "ecstasy," namely, it is in its essence to go "out of the closed inward-looking self toward its liberation through self-giving, and thus toward an authentic self-discovery and indeed the discovery of God” (p 6)

Contact Rhetoric: Bodies and

Deus Caritas Est represents Benedicts entry into this turbulent and contested zone reaching between rhetoric and religion, reason and faith, truth and belief, and his point is as simple and compelling as it was for Jesus - God is "felt" and made manifest in love-of-neighbor

Caritas Internationalis

Deus Caritas Est, a statement which represents a permanent inspiration for all of us, and a strong support to our IDCS-CIMS initiatives: “The Church’s charitable organizations, beginning with those of Caritas (at diocesan, national and international levels),

Caritas: love received and given

XVI states in Deus Caritas Est: “A Eucharist which does not pass over into the concrete practice of love is intrinsically fragmented” (Deus Caritas Est 14) The option for the poor has to be translated again and again into concrete terms and actions, such as the fight against all types of discrimination and racism
